5. Communication Platform

Messenger serves as the team's primary channel, supplemented by Viber as a secondary channel, with email reserved for formal matters.

6. Team Policies

In addition to the minimum standards set by Article III of the Class Project Team Constitution, the team adopts the following:

- Messages shall be acknowledged within twenty-four (24) hours.
- Meetings shall be attended unless advance notice is provided.
- Assignments and violations shall be tracked in Notion with clear ownership and due dates.
- Work shall be submitted incrementally rather than concentrated near deadlines.
- Feedback shall address the work, not the individual, and shall be delivered respectfully.

7. Consequences for Missed Commitments

The team adopts the following graduated response, consistent with Article IV of the Class Project Team Constitution:

- First instance: An informal reminder is issued by the Group Leader and logged.
- Second instance: A written warning is issued to the member and shared with the team, supported by documented evidence.
- Third or final instance: The team compiles its evidence and refers the matter to the instructor. Removal from the team requires the instructor's review and is subject to the instructor's final decision.

A member may return to good standing by [e.g., completing outstanding deliverables and demonstrating consistent participation over an agreed period].

8. Dispute Resolution

1. Members shall first attempt to resolve disagreements directly and respectfully.
2. If unresolved, the Group Leader shall facilitate discussion and document the matter.
3. If still unresolved, the matter shall be referred to the instructor with supporting documentation.
